

My career journey started immediately after high school. While I had dreams of attending my preferred university, financial constraints led me on a different path. I was fortunate to land a job at Texas Instruments, and despite the initial setbacks, I was determined to make the most of this opportunity and build a career. I've always been driven by a deep passion for understanding how things work and fixing any challenges that come my way. I've spent a good part of my career dealing with Networking, and let me tell you, it's been quite the journey. I've got this knack for crafting and executing really solid test plans. When it comes to solving problems, I'm your go-to person. What sets me apart is that I'm not just tech-savvy; I'm versatile. I'm comfortable with various technologies, programming languages, and testing platforms. But you know what? It's not just about the technical stuff. I've got strong communication skills and a collaborative spirit. I thrive in teamwork and bring my best when I work individually. Now, here's the exciting part – I'm on the lookout for a new opportunity. I'm all about leveraging my experiences. I'm eager to take on fresh challenges, and I can't wait to start this next chapter of my professional journey."
